CALL FOR CAWMC MAIL AUCTION OF WOOD: Our Auction Coordinator, Al Munro, Box 2643 - Stn. 'M', Calgary, Alberta T2P 3C1 Canada advises that he will be conducting another donation/consignment auction. He is now requesting that lots be sent to him. Please indicate clearly which wood is donated and which is on consignment. Wells' numbers are very helpful, but not essential. Lots are to be received by Al prior to March 13, 1985 to allow for cataloguing and their publication, hopefully for the April Timber Talk. If wood is to sell together, please indicate this. Remember that the better wood sells best. Consignment fee is only 10% and there is no 'buyer's fee.' All profits go into our treasury and help keep membership dues down. (Our last increase was January 1984.) Why not get a few of your duplicates out today and send them to Al?

NEW WOOD SUPPLEMENT

The new supplement will be going to press in January 1987 at a cost of $9.00 per copy, plus postage, and will be printed by order only. With each order you will receive a special wood and a personal number for your book.

After February the price will increase, and there will be a second printing when enough new orders are received.

We are working on updating the complete catalogue in the new format, so if you have any woods that our not listed, send a wood or clear photo copy to HOWARD RICHARDSON Or if a listing is incorrect please send the correct information. If you are ordering wood from Jim Deluney he will only send information to me if YOU tell him to when you order.

The information we would like is as follows;

Who issued it, where it was issued, obv. color, rev. color, how many issued, and when issued.

T.I.C.F. NOV 86

Well another T.I.C.F. WOODEN MONEY meeting is over and the attendance as usual was great. The gathering of woodies featured Norm Wells as the guest of honor and the S.O.C. of C.A.W.M.C. presented him with a plaque, while C.A.W.M.C. made him an honorary life member, for his many contributions to the wooden money hobby, one of them being his publishing of the catalogue and supplements. I know he has spent many hours cataloguing and researching woods over the years, and we hope he will continue to remain active in the hobby. Some of you new members may not know that Norm has also written books on several other numismatic subjects besides wood, and is currently doing research on yacht clubs in the Toronto area, and we wish him success in all his endeavours. Unfortunately one of our other elder statesmen in the hobby, John Curtis had a heart attack a few days before the meeting, however he is home recuperating now, and we wish him a speedy recovery.

Happy Collecting

Norm

Merry Christmas 1986

MORE CHRISTMAS WOOD:

A Frenchman named Jean Lafitte migrated from Quebec to New Orleans to become America's most celebrated pirate in the early 1800's. From his headquarters on Barataria Bay in the Mississippi Delta he preyed on mostly Spanish vessels in the Gulf of Mexico. Smuggling in those days was considered a very venial sin, if a sin at all. Merchants sold slaves for $170.00 each and auctioned ill begotten treasures from the market place on Bourbon street.

When General Andrew Jackson arrived in New Orleans to fight the British in the war of 1812 he discovered he was short of manpower. He met both Jean and Pierre Lafitte and was impressed with their combat readiness. He immediately solicited their support. It was with the assistance of these freebooters and swashbucklers that Jackson soundly defeated the British. All of the pirates who served with Jackson on this mission were granted presidential pardons.

Even so, the "Robinhood of the Sea" was not content with his life as a blacksmith and with his "Jolly Rogers" flag flying at the masthead he headed for Galveston and the Texas Coastal Bend. From the estuaries bounded by Matagorda Island and Aransas and St. Charles Bays, Lafitte continued to raid the Spanish Galleons laden with precious metals. It was here that he and his men repaired their vessels, took on provisions and between engagements enjoyed rest and recreation.

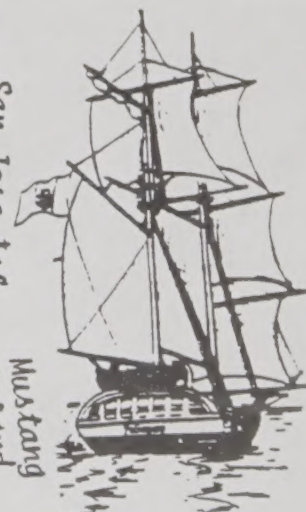

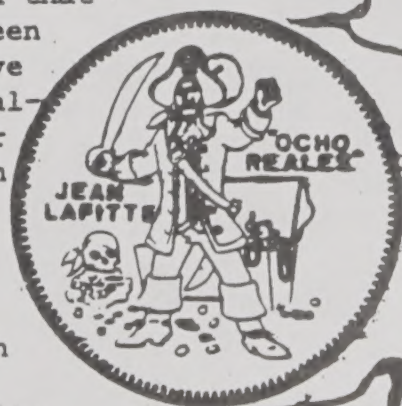

In 1821 pirating became such a dangerous profession, he assembled his fleet off San Antonio Bay, announced his retirement, divided the spoils and disbanded. Lafitte's share of the loot was so great that it took several days for his superb yawl to move his ocho reales and rare artifacts to an unknown spot off St. Charles Bay.

It is in this exact location that the U. S. Government now maintains the ARANSAS WILDLIFE REFUGE. It is in this same refuge that the famous and endangered WHOOPING CRANES make their winter home. From the tower on the refuge, tourists appear to be searching the landscape for the world's tallest birds, when in fact, they may be using the powerful built-in telescopes to search the by-ways for some semblance of Lafitte's buried treasure.

The "Red Tide" that just washed into the Coastal Bend, killing millions of fish, was caused by some blood red microscopic organism, the origin of which still remains a mystery. There is no scientific data that this cyclical phenomenon could have been initiated by a bloodbath that must have occurred between the seven foot cannibalistic Karankawa Indians and the killer Lafittist pirates. History is written that both these Indians and Pirates disappeared at the same time, at the same place and for the same reason.

The 1987 Lafitte/Whooping Crane wooden "Ocho reales", are being distributed during coin week from the Sparkling City by the Sea by the author:
